

PUG RESCUE ADOPTION QUESTIONNAIRE

The PUG DOG CLUB OF BC is a non-profit organization chartered under the Societies Act of B.C.

*** RESCUE: We are located in all of British Columbia, with primary bases on Vancouver Island (in Duncan) and on the Mainland (in Surrey) . You may download our Rescue form from our web site. Please expect to pay a donated fee of about $500.00 or more in expenses for your rescue pugs adoption. We no longer can afford not to get back the expenses for these pugs and continue on rescuing them. Older pugs of 10 years or so will be reevaluated by the PDCBC to decide on the amount of the rescue fee***

The Pug dog Club of BC rescues/adopts PUGS which no longer have homes. These Pugs come from families who surrender their Pugs to the program because they can no longer care for them, from the SPCA, from city pounds, and from other situations all over British Columbia. Before being adopted out to new homes, the majority of these pugs are given a health exam by our own veterinarian. Pug teeth always need care, therefore, we no longer will pay for any dental treatment for any of these pugs.

Often these dogs are scared, unhealthy, and have behavioral problems. The PDCBC offers these pugs to loving homes deemed to be best suited for that particular rescue Pug. Pugs are not necessarily placed in order of first come, first serve basis. The club reserves the right to place Pugs in homes best matched to the rescue Pug and reserves the right to refuse to place a rescue Pug in any home without written or verbal reason.

IMPORTANT: All adopted rescue Pugs are to be returned to the PDCBC rescue program if they can no longer stay in their adoptive homes. They are not allowed under any circumstances to be placed in a second home by the adoptive family. Adoptive families are responsible for food, shelter, veterinary care, etc.
